Tired

by Taylor Meadows

Sending out greetings of Hope for every Season

Life to me stands for LEARN IN FEAR EARLY
Wish you could live someone else's life, but we all got issues
Throughout life we're going to need many boxes of tissues
Trust me I know, feeling like the only one in pain
Feeling ashamed to be who you are

I began to learn to cry myself to sleep
Learned to keep my pain so deep
You become immune to it
And then wonder why you go through shit

The gas what we call it takes the pain away
But it don't help me in no better way
Then when the high go away
I realize I'm back to my original state

My father ain't here to save the day
I looked up to him like he was a model
But now its just stuffed in a bottle
Hoping that it would soar to the sea and help me forget my memories

Pain caved in my chest
I need to relieve this mess
But it ain't all bad
Like my giggles and laughs

Asking my parents for money that's a pain in my a
When I turn 16 imma be free at last
Me and you are different but we bleed the same
You get shot I get hot we both in pain

Moms want to check out so bad
But she got morals you can tell it make her mad
I didn't ask to be brought in this world
But I continue to be counted as a burden
Tired of seeing my mom crying and hurting
My dad's childish ways
They both don't deserve it
As much as she cries and hurts she's there for me
As much as I put her through I'm surprised she's not scared of me

But I love her so much; I'm finally saying it
