

"God, what is it You want to do through me?"

Prayer for Enough

God of abundant life
and downward mobility.
I struggle to know what it means to say "enough."
I have more than I need of food, clothing, housing, income--- all the material requirements in life--- and yet I find myself wanting more.
More space, more stuff, more time,
more connection, more meaning,
more love.

I know I cannot buy contentment, nor can I earn your grace.
Yet I am still unsure how to measure my faithfulness
in light of your incomparable generosity:
how can I ever hope to pray enough,
learn enough,
create enough,
give enough (time, energy, stuff, love)
to the poor, to the church, to your work in the world; how can I possibly work hard enough to do justice to your redeeming, transforming, sustaining, unconditional love?

God of abundant life
and downward
inward
outward mobility,
I come into your presence with empty hands and anxious heart.
Help me to accept
and to remember that you are more than enough
for me.
