

Love Will Make A Way

By Jules Christian

Lenten season is here
Oh what a year
Vexation and grief
Exhaustion and fear

What more can we sacrifice
I have seen people paying such a high price
Loss of life and loss of lives
Livin' with all of the lies

Masks covering all of our faces
Alone in our homes, can't go many places
Keeping their foot off our neck
Equality elusive among the races

And there is so much more
What else can we bear, we ask you O Lord
As always we fast, reflect, give and pray
Yearly observing the past as before

Love will make a way
One step and one day
Victory is coming
Everyone, offer the sacrifice of praise

Weariness will not keep us down
Isolation will not make us drown
Loads that are heavy, we will help each other carry
Livin' with the Spirit, grace will abound

Matthew's gospel records the words he spoke, "It is written"
As Jesus, three times with temptation was smitten
Kneeling and praying, sweating and wailing
Ending triumphant over opposition

As we journey on through the story

Withstanding the wilderness, though it be gory

After death, comes resurrection and life
You and I will see God's glory
